

Sun.	Mon.	Tue.	Wed.	Thur.	Fri.	Sat.
3	4	5	6	7	8	9
10	11	12	13	14	15	16
17	18	19	20	21	22	23
24	25	26	27	28	29	30
31

CURRENT TOPICS.

Boston negro voters have organized. Dublin, Ireland, has 16,000 negroes. The United States has a Chinese laundryman's union.

The bubonic plague is again spreading in India. Cleveland's city clerk wants to tax laundries.

But last (Ireland) engineers won the eight-hour day. The gold fields in Whatecom county, Wash., are reported as very rich.

The Union Veteran legion adopted a resolution calling for more pension legislation.

Nearly one thousand barrels of sugar have been raised on Tennessee state farms.

English employers are importing engineers from Germany to take the places of strikers.

The Natchez (Miss.) board of health has notified the sale or receipt of New Orleans newspapers.

The state of Tennessee is to be tested in the federal courts by the American Tobacco Co.

The United States consul at Odessa reports that the failure of grain crops in Russia is an extensive area.

The Muscovite union claims that non-union men were employed in one of the lands on Labor day at Milwaukee.

The great Ottoman empire, which at one time threatened the civilized world, sprang from a land of wandering Turkoman families.

According to Nilsson, the zoologist, the weight of the Greenland whale is 100 tons, or 200,000 pounds, or equal to that of 80 elephants or 40 bears.

Great Britain has notified the state department that it will not participate in the seal conference at Washington.

AASSETT developed a new method of leading tongue attached to the sealing flap runs down across the bottom of the letter, rendering opening without insertion impossible.

At Port Royal, Jamaica, for six months after the earthquake, the island was a desolate waste.

Lo Jang Nan, a Chinese athlete, says that his stomach is so strong that he can eat a whole pig in one day.

The birds of the duck, he asserts, are very strong.

A REMARKABLE has been discovered in the Fiji Islands. It has a peculiar formation in its throat, which causes it to whistle when in an excited state. The bird is 3 feet long and several inches in girth.

The longest distance that a shot has been fired is a few yards more than fifteen miles, which was the range of Krupp's one-hundred-and-thirty-ton steel gun. The shot required for this gun weighs 2,000 pounds.

SAM STONE, Bismarck, is organizing a company of Louisville (Ky.) men to construct a tannery between Hickman and Lake Lindeman, over the Chickasaw Pass. Mr. Bush has just returned from an inspection of the route.

Some women in Russia are preparing a unique gift for Mr. Hansen. It will be a carpet with a map of the North Pole regions embroidered in silk. The places visited by him in his voyage will be worked in silver and gold thread.

A new kind of ice skates will be in vogue next winter. The skate will be made with slots in the runners to support the shafts of several pairs of rollers, which are mounted loosely on the shafts and have sharp edges to cut the ice as the skates glide along.

REV. DR. PARKHURST says, in a recent letter to a friend in New York: "I can not stand by the Sunday school pure and simple, but I do believe in allowing the sale of beer and light wines on Sunday, provided they are the accompaniment of an honest meal, honestly paid for."

The Duke of Argyll lately offered himself as a living proof of the advantages of desecrating reading. He had never been to school or college, but he had always read everything he could lay hands on.

Is digging at Herculaneum there has been brought to light a pillar covered with bills, one on top of another. The paste used to stick them was made of gum arabic. When separated and examined they were found to be promissory notes and announcements of public meetings, and even election proclamations.

THERE is a genuine wild man out in Appleton, Wis., and he has a trait that is not common to others of his species. Stranger still is the fact that "Jocoso"—the name of the wild fellow—actually eats reptiles all kinds while they are alive. He is the most disgusting human being in the country.

PROF. F. E. GUILLEY, of Danville, Ill., for several years state geologist, has made one of the finest private collections of fossils in the world. His house is not big enough to accommodate his specimens, and he is now offering them for sale. They must be kept together, however. He will not part with them on any other terms.

BATH-ROOMS in public schools are a novelty that Boston will introduce in its new buildings. The latest structure an educational institution in that city is to cost $350,000 and will be fitted with toilet, dressing and bathroom for both sexes, with 11 shower-baths and foot-baths as well.

CYCLING on board an ocean liner in the early morning, before the crowd of passengers has turned out on deck, is becoming popular. The motion of the vessel makes riding delightful in an ordinary way, and those who have tried it say a spin on land is nothing to a spin on the ocean waves, as it were.

THE WOODFORD NOTE

Expresses the Hope on the Part of the United States That the War Will Be Brought to a Speedy Close in the Interest of All Concerned.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—A Washington special to the Times Herald says: It is now possible for the Times Herald to give, not the exact text of the famous Woodford note to Spain, but a fair statement of its substance.

This celebrated and much discussed document simply expresses, on the part of the United States, the hope that the war will be brought to a close as speedily as possible, but there is no date fixed when the consummation is to be reached, and that the interests of Spain, no less than the interests of the United States, the interests of humanity and the interests of the world at large, reasons why the war should be ended with the least possible delay.

And with that in view, acting as a friend of Spain, the United States has been patrolling a patrol over and preventing the sailing of filibustering expeditions, the United States tender in the good offices to act as a friend between the mother country and her rebellious colony in the hope that she may be able to effect a settlement and bring the warfare to a close.

This is all there is in the note. There is not the faintest suggestion of this government forcing upon Spain her good offices, if she does not care to voluntarily accept them, nor is there an intimation that the war must be brought to an end by a certain time or that Spain must return answer to this note by a fixed date.

TRAIN HELD UP.

Hampshire Road Express Car and Passenger Train Held Up in the Indian Territory.

LA JESSE, Okla., Oct. 2.—A passenger train and all its passengers at 11 o'clock Friday forenoon at station No. 1, about eight miles from La Jesso, in the Indian Territory, were held up by a band of desperadoes.

The train was held up for several weeks, and several guards have been put aboard all night trains at La Jesso and car and coachmen at Chickasaw. It had not been thought that the outlaws were bold enough to attack a train in midday. Friday morning the train was completely surprised and they were not prepared to offer any resistance when five masked men came upon them at the lonely siding.

Under the pressure of Winchester and Smith and Remington's Cartridges, the express messenger and all of the more or more of passengers were made to climb down from the train and stand in a line, hands up, in the road.

Along the road, the train was held up for several weeks, and several guards have been put aboard all night trains at La Jesso and car and coachmen at Chickasaw. It had not been thought that the outlaws were bold enough to attack a train in midday. Friday morning the train was completely surprised and they were not prepared to offer any resistance when five masked men came upon them at the lonely siding.

Under the pressure of Winchester and Smith and Remington's Cartridges, the express messenger and all of the more or more of passengers were made to climb down from the train and stand in a line, hands up, in the road.

Along the road, the train was held up for several weeks, and several guards have been put aboard all night trains at La Jesso and car and coachmen at Chickasaw. It had not been thought that the outlaws were bold enough to attack a train in midday. Friday morning the train was completely surprised and they were not prepared to offer any resistance when five masked men came upon them at the lonely siding.

Under the pressure of Winchester and Smith and Remington's Cartridges, the express messenger and all of the more or more of passengers were made to climb down from the train and stand in a line, hands up, in the road.

Along the road, the train was held up for several weeks, and several guards have been put aboard all night trains at La Jesso and car and coachmen at Chickasaw. It had not been thought that the outlaws were bold enough to attack a train in midday. Friday morning the train was completely surprised and they were not prepared to offer any resistance when five masked men came upon them at the lonely siding.

Under the pressure of Winchester and Smith and Remington's Cartridges, the express messenger and all of the more or more of passengers were made to climb down from the train and stand in a line, hands up, in the road.

Along the road, the train was held up for several weeks, and several guards have been put aboard all night trains at La Jesso and car and coachmen at Chickasaw. It had not been thought that the outlaws were bold enough to attack a train in midday. Friday morning the train was completely surprised and they were not prepared to offer any resistance when five masked men came upon them at the lonely siding.

Under the pressure of Winchester and Smith and Remington's Cartridges, the express messenger and all of the more or more of passengers were made to climb down from the train and stand in a line, hands up, in the road.

Along the road, the train was held up for several weeks, and several guards have been put aboard all night trains at La Jesso and car and coachmen at Chickasaw. It had not been thought that the outlaws were bold enough to attack a train in midday. Friday morning the train was completely surprised and they were not prepared to offer any resistance when five masked men came upon them at the lonely siding.

Under the pressure of Winchester and Smith and Remington's Cartridges, the express messenger and all of the more or more of passengers were made to climb down from the train and stand in a line, hands up, in the road.

Along the road, the train was held up for several weeks, and several guards have been put aboard all night trains at La Jesso and car and coachmen at Chickasaw. It had not been thought that the outlaws were bold enough to attack a train in midday. Friday morning the train was completely surprised and they were not prepared to offer any resistance when five masked men came upon them at the lonely siding.

Under the pressure of Winchester and Smith and Remington's Cartridges, the express messenger and all of the more or more of passengers were made to climb down from the train and stand in a line, hands up, in the road.

Along the road, the train was held up for several weeks, and several guards have been put aboard all night trains at La Jesso and car and coachmen at Chickasaw. It had not been thought that the outlaws were bold enough to attack a train in midday. Friday morning the train was completely surprised and they were not prepared to offer any resistance when five masked men came upon them at the lonely siding.

Under the pressure of Winchester and Smith and Remington's Cartridges, the express messenger and all of the more or more of passengers were made to climb down from the train and stand in a line, hands up, in the road.

Along the road, the train was held up for several weeks, and several guards have been put aboard all night trains at La Jesso and car and coachmen at Chickasaw. It had not been thought that the outlaws were bold enough to attack a train in midday. Friday morning the train was completely surprised and they were not prepared to offer any resistance when five masked men came upon them at the lonely siding.

Under the pressure of Winchester and Smith and Remington's Cartridges, the express messenger and all of the more or more of passengers were made to climb down from the train and stand in a line, hands up, in the road.

Along the road, the train was held up for several weeks, and several guards have been put aboard all night trains at La Jesso and car and coachmen at Chickasaw. It had not been thought that the outlaws were bold enough to attack a train in midday. Friday morning the train was completely surprised and they were not prepared to offer any resistance when five masked men came upon them at the lonely siding.

Under the pressure of Winchester and Smith and Remington's Cartridges, the express messenger and all of the more or more of passengers were made to climb down from the train and stand in a line, hands up, in the road.

Along the road, the train was held up for several weeks, and several guards have been put aboard all night trains at La Jesso and car and coachmen at Chickasaw. It had not been thought that the outlaws were bold enough to attack a train in midday. Friday morning the train was completely surprised and they were not prepared to offer any resistance when five masked men came upon them at the lonely siding.

Under the pressure of Winchester and Smith and Remington's Cartridges, the express messenger and all of the more or more of passengers were made to climb down from the train and stand in a line, hands up, in the road.

Along the road, the train was held up for several weeks, and several guards have been put aboard all night trains at La Jesso and car and coachmen at Chickasaw. It had not been thought that the outlaws were bold enough to attack a train in midday. Friday morning the train was completely surprised and they were not prepared to offer any resistance when five masked men came upon them at the lonely siding.

Under the pressure of Winchester and Smith and Remington's Cartridges, the express messenger and all of the more or more of passengers were made to climb down from the train and stand in a line, hands up, in the road.

Along the road, the train was held up for several weeks, and several guards have been put aboard all night trains at La Jesso and car and coachmen at Chickasaw. It had not been thought that the outlaws were bold enough to attack a train in midday. Friday morning the train was completely surprised and they were not prepared to offer any resistance when five masked men came upon them at the lonely siding.

Under the pressure of Winchester and Smith and Remington's Cartridges, the express messenger and all of the more or more of passengers were made to climb down from the train and stand in a line, hands up, in the road.

Along the road, the train was held up for several weeks, and several guards have been put aboard all night trains at La Jesso and car and coachmen at Chickasaw. It had not been thought that the outlaws were bold enough to attack a train in midday. Friday morning the train was completely surprised and they were not prepared to offer any resistance when five masked men came upon them at the lonely siding.

Under the pressure of Winchester and Smith and Remington's Cartridges, the express messenger and all of the more or more of passengers were made to climb down from the train and stand in a line, hands up, in the road.

Along the road, the train was held up for several weeks, and several guards have been put aboard all night trains at La Jesso and car and coachmen at Chickasaw. It had not been thought that the outlaws were bold enough to attack a train in midday. Friday morning the train was completely surprised and they were not prepared to offer any resistance when five masked men came upon them at the lonely siding.

Under the pressure of Winchester and Smith and Remington's Cartridges, the express messenger and all of the more or more of passengers were made to climb down from the train and stand in a line, hands up, in the road.

Along the road, the train was held up for several weeks, and several guards have been put aboard all night trains at La Jesso and car and coachmen at Chickasaw. It had not been thought that the outlaws were bold enough to attack a train in midday. Friday morning the train was completely surprised and they were not prepared to offer any resistance when five masked men came upon them at the lonely siding.

Under the pressure of Winchester and Smith and Remington's Cartridges, the express messenger and all of the more or more of passengers were made to climb down from the train and stand in a line, hands up, in the road.

Along the road, the train was held up for several weeks, and several guards have been put aboard all night trains at La Jesso and car and coachmen at Chickasaw. It had not been thought that the outlaws were bold enough to attack a train in midday. Friday morning the train was completely surprised and they were not prepared to offer any resistance when five masked men came upon them at the lonely siding.

Under the pressure of Winchester and Smith and Remington's Cartridges, the express messenger and all of the more or more of passengers were made to climb down from the train and stand in a line, hands up, in the road.

Along the road, the train was held up for several weeks, and several guards have been put aboard all night trains at La Jesso and car and coachmen at Chickasaw. It had not been thought that the outlaws were bold enough to attack a train in midday. Friday morning the train was completely surprised and they were not prepared to offer any resistance when five masked men came upon them at the lonely siding.

Under the pressure of Winchester and Smith and Remington's Cartridges, the express messenger and all of the more or more of passengers were made to climb down from the train and stand in a line, hands up, in the road.

Along the road, the train was held up for several weeks, and several guards have been put aboard all night trains at La Jesso and car and coachmen at Chickasaw. It had not been thought that the outlaws were bold enough to attack a train in midday. Friday morning the train was completely surprised and they were not prepared to offer any resistance when five masked men came upon them at the lonely siding.

Under the pressure of Winchester and Smith and Remington's Cartridges, the express messenger and all of the more or more of passengers were made to climb down from the train and stand in a line, hands up, in the road.

Along the road, the train was held up for several weeks, and several guards have been put aboard all night trains at La Jesso and car and coachmen at Chickasaw. It had not been thought that the outlaws were bold enough to attack a train in midday. Friday morning the train was completely surprised and they were not prepared to offer any resistance when five masked men came upon them at the lonely siding.

Under the pressure of Winchester and Smith and Remington's Cartridges, the express messenger and all of the more or more of passengers were made to climb down from the train and stand in a line, hands up, in the road.

Along the road, the train was held up for several weeks, and several guards have been put aboard all night trains at La Jesso and car and coachmen at Chickasaw. It had not been thought that the outlaws were bold enough to attack a train in midday. Friday morning the train was completely surprised and they were not prepared to offer any resistance when five masked men came upon them at the lonely siding.

Under the pressure of Winchester and Smith and Remington's Cartridges, the express messenger and all of the more or more of passengers were made to climb down from the train and stand in a line, hands up, in the road.

Along the road, the train was held up for several weeks, and several guards have been put aboard all night trains at La Jesso and car and coachmen at Chickasaw. It had not been thought that the outlaws were bold enough to attack a train in midday. Friday morning the train was completely surprised and they were not prepared to offer any resistance when five masked men came upon them at the lonely siding.

Under the pressure of Winchester and Smith and Remington's Cartridges, the express messenger and all of the more or more of passengers were made to climb down from the train and stand in a line, hands up, in the road.

Along the road, the train was held up for several weeks, and several guards have been put aboard all night trains at La Jesso and car and coachmen at Chickasaw. It had not been thought that the outlaws were bold enough to attack a train in midday. Friday morning the train was completely surprised and they were not prepared to offer any resistance when five masked men came upon them at the lonely siding.

Under the pressure of Winchester and Smith and Remington's Cartridges, the express messenger and all of the more or more of passengers were made to climb down from the train and stand in a line, hands up, in the road.

Along the road, the train was held up for several weeks, and several guards have been put aboard all night trains at La Jesso and car and coachmen at Chickasaw. It had not been thought that the outlaws were bold enough to attack a train in midday. Friday morning the train was completely surprised and they were not prepared to offer any resistance when five masked men came upon them at the lonely siding.

Under the pressure of Winchester and Smith and Remington's Cartridges, the express messenger and all of the more or more of passengers were made to climb down from the train and stand in a line, hands up, in the road.

Along the road, the train was held up for several weeks, and several guards have been put aboard all night trains at La Jesso and car and coachmen at Chickasaw. It had not been thought that the outlaws were bold enough to attack a train in midday. Friday morning the train was completely surprised and they were not prepared to offer any resistance when five masked men came upon them at the lonely siding.

Under the pressure of Winchester and Smith and Remington's Cartridges, the express messenger and all of the more or more of passengers were made to climb down from the train and stand in a line, hands up, in the road.

Along the road, the train was held up for several weeks, and several guards have been put aboard all night trains at La Jesso and car and coachmen at Chickasaw. It had not been thought that the outlaws were bold enough to attack a train in midday. Friday morning the train was completely surprised and they were not prepared to offer any resistance when five masked men came upon them at the lonely siding.

Under the pressure of Winchester and Smith and Remington's Cartridges, the express messenger and all of the more or more of passengers were made to climb down from the train and stand in a line, hands up, in the road.

Along the road, the train was held up for several weeks, and several guards have been put aboard all night trains at La Jesso and car and coachmen at Chickasaw. It had not been thought that the outlaws were bold enough to attack a train in midday. Friday morning the train was completely surprised and they were not prepared to offer any resistance when five masked men came upon them at the lonely siding.

Under the pressure of Winchester and Smith and Remington's Cartridges, the express messenger and all of the more or more of passengers were made to climb down from the train and stand in a line, hands up, in the road.

Along the road, the train was held up for several weeks, and several guards have been put aboard all night trains at La Jesso and car and coachmen at Chickasaw. It had not been thought that the outlaws were bold enough to attack a train in midday. Friday morning the train was completely surprised and they were not prepared to offer any resistance when five masked men came upon them at the lonely siding.

Under the pressure of Winchester and Smith and Remington's Cartridges, the express messenger and all of the more or more of passengers were made to climb down from the train and stand in a line, hands up, in the road.

Along the road, the train was held up for several weeks, and several guards have been put aboard all night trains at La Jesso and car and coachmen at Chickasaw. It had not been thought that the outlaws were bold enough to attack a train in midday. Friday morning the train was completely surprised and they were not prepared to offer any resistance when five masked men came upon them at the lonely siding.

POISON IN COFFEE.

The Mother and Four of Her Seven Children Are Dead.

Fifth Child Dying and the Sixth Victim Sick—An Older Son Remains Alive After a Hermetic Seclusion by the Mother and Left the Breakfast Table.

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 4.—A special to the Bee from Schuyler, Neb., says: During Sunday forenoon Frank Stelnd came lastly in from Shell Creek precinct, nine miles northeast, to summon a physician to the home of Frank Davis, where he said the whole family had been poisoned. Dr. Stelnd hastened out and found four of the seven children in the family and their mother dead, and a fifth child in a dying condition, and a sixth victim, Mrs. Davis, and her oldest son, went away early in the morning.

Dr. Stelnd said that the mother had prepared all sat down and early in the morning the meal Mrs. Davis made some coffee, and that a good breakfast and we'll all go together. An older son's mind was affected by the remark to the extent that he did not appear to be so little. A daughter younger than the son, after drinking about a half cup of coffee, became sick and vomited. The rest of the family continued the morning meal, although the children made very few faces and said the coffee did not taste good. Strychnine had been put into the coffee which soon showed its effects when those not prostrated by the poison, did not soon enough to avoid the fatal effects noted.

THE QUEEN REGENT

Solicitors for Spain's Relations With the United States and to Avert the Loss of Cuba.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—A special to the World from Madrid, Spain, by way of Bayona, says: In all her consultations with the Spanish generals and the leaders of the political parties the queen regent has laid stress chiefly upon the question of Spain's relations with the United States and the best means of averting a violation of rights through prolongation of the war and consequent American intervention, thereby imperiling the stability of her son's throne, let alone playing into the hands of the republicans and Carlists, who have been especially troublesome of late.

The queen also insisted strongly upon the necessity of Spain's rule in the West Indies, which she justified by a too extended grant of autonomy, thus enabling the separatists and autonomists to prepare gradually for the day when their revolution towards independence.

She earnestly asked the statement, if they really believed in a more prompt settlement of the Cuban question, they should not allow the queen regent to be deceived by the separatists and autonomists, who have been especially troublesome of late.

The queen also insisted strongly upon the necessity of Spain's rule in the West Indies, which she justified by a too extended grant of autonomy, thus enabling the separatists and autonomists to prepare gradually for the day when their revolution towards independence.

She earnestly asked the statement, if they really believed in a more prompt settlement of the Cuban question, they should not allow the queen regent to be deceived by the separatists and autonomists, who have been especially troublesome of late.

The queen also insisted strongly upon the necessity of Spain's rule in the West Indies, which she justified by a too extended grant of autonomy, thus enabling the separatists and autonomists to prepare gradually for the day when their revolution towards independence.

She earnestly asked the statement, if they really believed in a more prompt settlement of the Cuban question, they should not allow the queen regent to be deceived by the separatists and autonomists, who have been especially troublesome of late.

The queen also insisted strongly upon the necessity of Spain's rule in the West Indies, which she justified by a too extended grant of autonomy, thus enabling the separatists and autonomists to prepare gradually for the day when their revolution towards independence.

She earnestly asked the statement, if they really believed in a more prompt settlement of the Cuban question, they should not allow the queen regent to be deceived by the separatists and autonomists, who have been especially troublesome of late.

The queen also insisted strongly upon the necessity of Spain's rule in the West Indies, which she justified by a too extended grant of autonomy, thus enabling the separatists and autonomists to prepare gradually for the day when their revolution towards independence.

She earnestly asked the statement, if they really believed in a more prompt settlement of the Cuban question, they should not allow the queen regent to be deceived by the separatists and autonomists, who have been especially troublesome of late.

The queen also insisted strongly upon the necessity of Spain's rule in the West Indies, which she justified by a too extended grant of autonomy, thus enabling the separatists and autonomists to prepare gradually for the day when their revolution towards independence.

She earnestly asked the statement, if they really believed in a more prompt settlement of the Cuban question, they should not allow the queen regent to be deceived by the separatists and autonomists, who have been especially troublesome of late.

The queen also insisted strongly upon the necessity of Spain's rule in the West Indies, which she justified by a too extended grant of autonomy, thus enabling the separatists and autonomists to prepare gradually for the day when their revolution towards independence.

She earnestly asked the statement, if they really believed in a more prompt settlement of the Cuban question, they should not allow the queen regent to be deceived by the separatists and autonomists, who have been especially troublesome of late.

The queen also insisted strongly upon the necessity of Spain's rule in the West Indies, which she justified by a too extended grant of autonomy, thus enabling the separatists and autonomists to prepare gradually for the day when their revolution towards independence.

She earnestly asked the statement, if they really believed in a more prompt settlement of the Cuban question, they should not allow the queen regent to be deceived by the separatists and autonomists, who have been especially troublesome of late.

The queen also insisted strongly upon the necessity of Spain's rule in the West Indies, which she justified by a too extended grant of autonomy, thus enabling the separatists and autonomists to prepare gradually for the day when their revolution towards independence.

She earnestly asked the statement, if they really believed in a more prompt settlement of the Cuban question, they should not allow the queen regent to be deceived by the separatists and autonomists, who have been especially troublesome of late.

The queen also insisted strongly upon the necessity of Spain's rule in the West Indies, which she justified by a too extended grant of autonomy, thus enabling the separatists and autonomists to prepare gradually for the day when their revolution towards independence.

She earnestly asked the statement, if they really believed in a more prompt settlement of the Cuban question, they should not allow the queen regent to be deceived by the separatists and autonomists, who have been especially troublesome of late.

The queen also insisted strongly upon the necessity of Spain's rule in the West Indies, which she justified by a too extended grant of autonomy, thus enabling the separatists and autonomists to prepare gradually for the day when their revolution towards independence.

She earnestly asked the statement, if they really believed in a more prompt settlement of the Cuban question, they should not allow the queen regent to be deceived by the separatists and autonomists, who have been especially troublesome of late.

The queen also insisted strongly upon the necessity of Spain's rule in the West Indies, which she justified by a too extended grant of autonomy, thus enabling the separatists and autonomists to prepare gradually for the day when their revolution towards independence.

She earnestly asked the statement, if they really believed in a more prompt settlement of the Cuban question, they should not allow the queen regent to be deceived by the separatists and autonomists, who have been especially troublesome of late.

The queen also insisted strongly upon the necessity of Spain's rule in the West Indies, which she justified by a too extended grant of autonomy, thus enabling the separatists and autonomists to prepare gradually for the day when their revolution towards independence.

She earnestly asked the statement, if they really believed in a more prompt settlement of the Cuban question, they should not allow the queen regent to be deceived by the separatists and autonomists, who have been especially troublesome of late.

The queen also insisted strongly upon the necessity of Spain's rule in the West Indies, which she justified by a too extended grant of autonomy, thus enabling the separatists and autonomists to prepare gradually for the day when their revolution towards independence.

She earnestly asked the statement, if they really believed in a more prompt settlement of the Cuban question, they should not allow the queen regent to be deceived by the separatists and autonomists, who have been especially troublesome of late.

The queen also insisted strongly upon the necessity of Spain's rule in the West Indies, which she justified by a too extended grant of autonomy, thus enabling the separatists and autonomists to prepare gradually for the day when their revolution towards independence.

She earnestly asked the statement, if they really believed in a more prompt settlement of the Cuban question, they should not allow the queen regent to be deceived by the separatists and autonomists, who have been especially troublesome of late.

The queen also insisted strongly upon the necessity of Spain's rule in the West Indies, which she justified by a too extended grant of autonomy, thus enabling the separatists and autonomists to prepare gradually for the day when their revolution towards independence.

She earnestly asked the statement, if they really believed in a more prompt settlement of the Cuban question, they should not allow the queen regent to be deceived by the separatists and autonomists, who have been especially troublesome of late.

The queen also insisted strongly upon the necessity of Spain's rule in the West Indies, which she justified by a too extended grant of autonomy, thus enabling the separatists and autonomists to prepare gradually for the day when their revolution towards independence.

She earnestly asked the statement, if they really believed in a more prompt settlement of the Cuban question, they should not allow the queen regent to be deceived by the separatists and autonomists, who have been especially troublesome of late.

&lt;